REVISION TIP!

9 weeks
until GCSE
exams start!

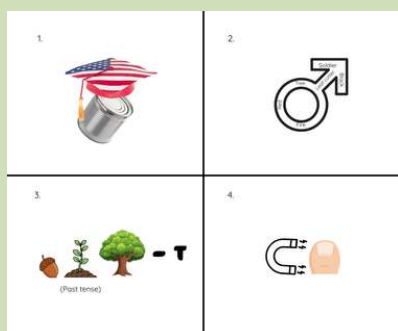

Habit stacking means linking revision to something you already do daily.
Use this formula: After I [current habit], I will [revision task].
For example:

- After I brush my teeth, I practise 5 algebra questions for Maths.
- After dinner, I test myself on 5 quotations for English Literature.
- After I make my morning drink, I test myself on 10 Biology key terms.
- After I get home, I answer one 6-mark Physics exam question.

Your existing routine becomes the trigger, making revision consistent and automatic.

BOOK RECOMMENDATIONS

Isabella in Year 8 enjoyed reading 'Murder Most Unladylike: Jolly Foul Play' by Robin Stevens.

"I would recommend this book because even though the victim was a horrible person, she didn't deserve to be killed. The culprit will shock you!"
